15,000 CHINESE SLAUGHTERED BY BANDIT HORDES

Delayed Accounts Of Mas- sacres Are Received In Shanghai

Shanghai, China, May 9.—(UP)—A great horde of bandits devastated the Yung-Yang district in Honan province and slaughtered thousands of residents, according to delayed advices received today. The newspaper Sin Wan Pao said that approximately 15,000 persons were killed by the raiding outlaws.

The bandits swarmed through the district for four days, starting April 23. Killing without mercy, they slaughtered women and children and pillaged their homes, the advices said.

The raid was the worst of many reported in recent months, the last major attack occurring within a few hundred miles of the national capital, Nanking.

Honan province and other northern interior regions have been the prey of wandering bandit hordes for more than a year. Lack of food has forced many persons to join the bandits, and they have swarmed over some interior regions like wandering armies, well armed and ruthless.

Between 3000 and 4000 bandits were in the band that invaded the Yung-Yang district. Almost every home was looted or burned and residents who did not readily give up their goods were tortured and slain. Many small villages were desolated in the attack. After three days of pillage the bandits rounded up 500 prisoners, forced them to shoulder the loot and marched them off to be held for ransom.

TWO KILLED IN CRASH

Langley Field, Va., May 9.—(AP)—Captain Percy G. Black, Eighth Field Artillery, was in a hospital today, the sole survivor of an airplane collision which cost the lives of Lieutenant Colonel Phira Amara of the Siamese Air Corps, and Lieutenant Robert J. Brown died an hour later in Langley Field Hospital. Black suffered a broken left arm, broken wrist and severe lacerations on the head.

STORMS HIT NEBRASKA

Hastings, Neb., May 9.—(UP)—Citizens of this little south central Nebraska community who for the past week have aided storm-stricken farmers turned to rehabilitating their own homes and industries after a windstorm and rain storm which caused damages upwards of $125,000 overnight.

John T. Walters of Hastings, was killed in the storm when the barn in which he was standing was carried away. No other deaths and no injuries were reported.

The storm damaged or destroyed between 40 and 50 homes and unroofed the Hastings College Bible House. Hail which fell after the winds abated broke many windows.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE

Bentonville, Ark., May 9.—(AP)—Dr. Andrew J. Bass retired dentist of Columbia, Mo., who is held in jail here charged with the murder of William R. Pearman, early today slashed an artery of his wrist three times with a razor blade in what Sheriff Field said was an attempt to commit suicide.

Physicians said Dr. Bass was in a serious condition and they were not certain he would live. He was being cared for at the jail.

Bass has been held in jail a month and a half in connection with the slaying of Pearman, former automobile mechanic, in a plot to collect $200,000 insurance on his life.

PLANE FELL: THREE DEAD

Dowington, Ill., May 9.—(AP)—A 27-year-old airplane pilot and his two friends were killed near here last night when the pilot attempted to make a dead-sick landing after the plane's motor had died.

The plane with Carman van Leer at the controls, went into a dive at 1,000 feet over the farm of J. Lewis Downing a mile north of Dowington. Norman Donnelly, 20, West Chester, and Robert Stanford, 27, Frazer, were in the front seat.

As the plane struck the ground and crumpled into a twisted mass it burst into flames.

GUESS CHICAGO'S CENSUS

Chicago, May 9.—(AP)—The Herald and Examiner, after checking up "nearly complete census returns," says today that the 1930 census will reveal Chicago as a city of more than 3,350,000 population. This is nearly 100,000 in excess of the Association's pre-census estimate.

If the figure is found accurate, it represents an increase of more than 648,000 over the 1920 census and is the largest gain for a ten-year period in the city's history.

The official census figures for Chicago are not expected to be announced for a week or more.

LASALLE CLERK DEAD

ROBERTS PICKED FOR HIGH COURT BY MR. HOOVER

Washington, May 9.—(AP)—Owen J. Roberts of Philadelphia was nominated by President Hoover today for the Supreme Court.

Nationally famous as the government prosecutor in the Teapot Dome and other naval oil case, Roberts is versed in the procedure of the highest court, where he has appeared many times as counsel.

President Hoover believes his new appointee not only will be acceptable to administration Senators, but will have the support of most of those who opposed confirmation of Charles E. Hughes as Chief Justice and more recently defeated John J. Parker for Associate Justice.

All immediate expressions in Senatorial circles were favorable. Those who indicated support included Chairman Norris of the Judiciary committee, a leader against both Hughes and Parker. The committee will take up the nomination Monday.

Roberts is a Republican. He has just passed his fifty-fifth birthday. He has practiced law in Philadelphia since 1898.

If the President's latest selection is confirmed—and no immediate dissent was heard—the result will be to shift one place on the court from the south to the north. Justice Sanford who died in March, was from Tennessee.

Sanford, like Roberts, was a Republican, and so is Judge Parker, rejected Wednesday.

4000 HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETES READY FOR COMPETITION

District Track Meets Throughout State Tomorrow

By CLYDE JOHNSON
Associated Press Staff Writer
Champaign, Ill., May 9.—(AP)—Toeing the mark for the first lap of the battle for honors in the thirty-six annual interscholastic track and field meet, to be held at the University of Illinois May 16 and 17, more than 4000 prep athletes will clash in 14 Illinois cities tomorrow in the qualifying round of competition.

Illinois' interscholastic, one of the oldest in the country, is expected to attract more than 700 survivors of the preliminary competition. Golf and tennis entries were decided in the qualifying round played last Saturday.

Winners of first and second places in each event of the district meets tomorrow are eligible to compete in the final competition here May 16 and 17. The winning school in each district will also be permitted to enter all the members of its team, who won points in the district meet.

Contestants may compete only in the event or events in which they qualified in the district meets. In order to safeguard the athletes, the interscholastic officials have ruled that any athlete who is entered in the 440 yard, 880 yard or mile runs, is restricted to that event alone.

The district track meets will be held in the following centers: Bridgeport, Dixon, Elgin, Harrisburg, Jacksonville, LaSalle, Lebanon, Lincoln, Mattoon, Moline, Monmouth, Oak Park, Urbana, and Chicago.

Two Chicago high schools, Hyde Park and Tilden, were tied for first place honors last year with 15 points each. Oak Park's team was third with 14 points and Atwood team was fourth with 10 points.

PUBLIC INVITED TO VISIT JONES FUNERAL HOME

Residence Of the Late W. J. McAlpine Makes Ideal Setting

The Jones Funeral Home located in the former residence of the late W. J. McAlpine will be thrown open for public inspection Sunday and an invitation is extended to all who are interested to visit the home that day and inspect the equipment. Dixon now boasts of one of the most complete funeral homes in this section of Illinois. It is a funeral home that is all that the name implies. The owner has spared no expense in creating surroundings which her years of experience have proven essential in the care of the public at that unexpected hour when death strikes a family and takes one of its loved ones.

Mrs. Celia Jones has associated with her in her new location, her son Willard. The late Royal Jones entered the embalming art in Dixon in 1897 and his first place of business was in the Shaw building now occupied by the Mossholder Agency. Upon his death in 1904, Mrs. Celia Jones assumed full responsibility of the successful business and has carried on continuously until today when her highest ambition in funeral directing has been realized.

In Opera House Block. Later Walter O'Malley became associated with Mrs. Jones in the business and the mortuary was located in both the present Snow White bakery and the Buehler market locations. Mr. O'Malley moved to Rock Island and Charles Slain of this city became a member of the firm and the business was moved to the old opera house building. In 1915 Mrs. Jones took over the Slain interests and has since conducted the business alone. She suffered heavily from fire loss when the opera house building was wiped out in February 1919.

Making alterations at her residence, 303 East Second street, Mrs. Jones reopened the business and at this address was located Dixon's first funeral home. Under her determined but always pleasant ability, Mrs. Jones reorganized and made of her new venture a huge success. Her son Willard graduated from Notre Dame in 1925 and immediately took up a special course in the Washburn Mortician College in Chicago, from which he graduated a year later and became associated with his mother in the business.

The ever-changing cycle of time has increased the popularity of the funeral home and the business which was carried on at the residence, made it necessary to seek a more spacious location and on January 2 of this year Mrs. Jones purchased from the late William J. McAlpine, his palatial home at 204 Ottawa avenue. The beautiful home was built by the original owner in 1903 and a coincidence connected with the establishment of the funeral home in the McAlpine residence is that the first funeral conducted there after its conversion into a funeral home was that of the builder or original owner of the property.

Attractive Property. The McAlpine property for years has been classified as among the most attractive and finest in the city. The builder in planning his home selected with great care all of the woodwork which entered into its construction. Mahogany, birds eye maple and oak are used throughout the palatial home. The beautiful imported floor coverings and drapes were included in the sale price when Mrs. Jones purchased the home.

In its present re-arrangement, Mrs. Jones has created an institution which cannot be excelled. The funeral home proper is located on the first floor and occupies all of that section. Two large reception parlors can be quickly converted into chapel rooms with a seating capacity of more than 250 persons.

A smaller room is arranged for the holding of services. This opens through French doors onto the spacious porchway on the south where a new concrete drive has been built. No detail has been overlooked in creating comfort and arranging for the dispatch of this work. Just off the smaller service room is a room which has been especially furnished for the family or mourners, who may hear the entire funeral service and still be alone. All of these rooms may be left through a south door where members of the funeral party may enter their cars and proceed to the cemetery.

The mortuary, or embalming room, equipped with the latest modern service is also located on the first floor.

EXPLOSION IN PACKING PLANT IS FATAL TO 17

St. Joseph, Mo., May 9.—(AP)—Tons of heavy debris today was being removed by city firemen and hundreds of volunteer workmen here, seeking bodies of 8 Armour packing plant employees, believed to have been included among 17 victims of a devastating explosion in a 6-story building.

While an exact check of dead and injured, both men and women, was impossible due to excitement arising from the blast, officials expected a final death toll of 17 persons. Twelve other workers were injured by the blinding flash and the following upheaval which occurred yesterday afternoon.

All of the injured except one were expected to recover.

W. E. Renfro, General Manager of the plant, and Walter Kline, foreman in the sausage making department, said they believed a gas explosion was responsible for the blast. Kline said he smelled gas and called it to the attention of a watchman, carrying a lighted lantern, who was going into a darkened portion of the building.

Just as the watchman laughed and walked through a door the explosion occurred, the foreman recounted.

More than 1,000 persons, many of their relatives of the dead, gathered at the main entrance of the packing plant grounds through the night. All departments of the plant were closed today.

MIAMI ADOPTS CHICAGO PLAN WITH CAPONE

Miami, Fla., May 9.—(AP)—Adopting the "Chicago plan" the authorities of Miami have given "Scarface Al" Capone the choice of leaving or being arrested every time a policeman sees him.

The police picked him up yesterday and held him in jail for "investigation" for two and a half hours before a Circuit Judge freed him on a writ of habeas corpus. They're going to do it again when he appears in the city, they told Capone, as he returned to his estate on Palm Island without waiting to exchange a ransom for his freedom. The police valued him at $10,000, which police took from him.

It was Capone's third appearance in court since his arrival April 20.

Capone's brother John, Albert, Drignano and Nick Circules were arrested and released with Capone yesterday. Seized while riding in a car the four were photographed, finger-printed and searched before being locked up. His companions had smaller amounts of cash, but none was armed.

The arrests were made upon orders from the offices of Mayor C. H. Reed and other officials and announcement was made that the authorities desired to learn Capone's business land around Miami and that their plan was "to run gangsters out of the city."

Capone gave his age as 30, his birthplace as New York, and his occupation as "retired."

BIG STOCK OF BREW SUPPLIES TAKEN IN RAID

Chicago, May 9.—(AP)—The $75,000 stock of beer and liquor making paraphernalia of the Grein & Pahlis store on West Madison Street was held today in a government storehouse, awaiting action by a federal court.

Prohibition agents yesterday raided the store, one of the largest of its kind in the country, under a supreme court decision upholding the right of the government to seize equipment "designed for the illegal manufacture of alcoholic beverages."

The proprietors, Joe Grein and J. Pahlis, declared the material seized was designed for the manufacture of nonalcoholic beverages and that insofar as was possible the store made every effort to discourage its use for illegal purposes. The two men were placed under technical arrest. The raiders acted on a warrant based on the sale of supplies to undercover agents.

The prohibition men took malt, hops, bottles, caps, capping machines, syring, siphons and other supplies usable in brewing and distilling. They did not disturb a stock of novelties also carried in the store.

E. C. Yellowley, prohibition administrator, said he had been informed that State Street department stores would probably withdraw their home brew supplies from sale at once.

Building Tank

Steel workers have started the erection of a 100,000-gallon elevated steel water tank at Peoria Ave. and 11th St., which will be a part of the Dixon water works system.

The tank is known as the ellipsoidal-bottom type, with a broad and shallow shape. There will be relatively little difference between high and low water level and consequently the water will flow by gravity under a uniform pressure. The entire capacity of the tank is to be 40 ft. above the ground. A large steel riser pipe, 48 in. in diameter extends up from the ground and is riveted solid to the bottom of the tank.

Erection of the structure is in charge of K. E. Oliver of the Chicago Bridge & Iron Works, which company also fabricated the steel at their central plant in Chicago.

MUTILATED BODY OF GANG VICTIM WAS IDENTIFIED

Chicago, May 9.—(AP)—The mutilated body found in a roadside ditch Wednesday morning was identified today by Mrs. Betty Anthony, 615 Earl St. Toledo, Ohio, as that of her husband, Harry Anthony, 28.

Despite the condition of the body, torn from head to foot, supposedly by gangsters' bullets, Mrs. Anthony readily recognized it. She said he was a former railroad brakeman who had come to Chicago five weeks ago seeking work. She had become concerned when only one letter came from him in the interval, and reading of the slaying of an unidentified giant whose clothing bore Toledo manufacturers' labels she suspected it was her husband. Anthony was 6 feet 4 inches tall.

Earlier today a hotel clerk had identified the body as that of a Harry Marshman who had been living at a south side hotel with a woman who registered as his wife. Marshman, Mrs. Anthony explained, was the name of her husband's attorney.

The identification gave police two theories: That Anthony was killed by a former sweetheart of the woman with whom he was living, or was slain for his invasion of the domain of some liquor gang. The brunette seen at the hotel with him was sought today.

Mrs. Anthony appeared at the Detective Bureau with a brother-in-law, John Moser, and his two sisters. She could advance no motive for the killing, declaring her husband had never been in trouble and had worked steadily on the railroad. Anthony was the father of an eight-year-old girl by a previous marriage.

Bombay, May 9.—(UP)—The most stringent precautions for the protection of Europeans in India were taken by the government today as rumors of impending attacks by independence seekers were received in Bombay.

All European inhabitants at Talegaon, 30 miles from Poona, were warned to evacuate the city before noon today, reports received here said. The warning was issued by authorities after they learned an Indian mob planned a raid on a glass factory.

MRS. J. E. WILLHOUSE

"I tried treatments without end in the hope of finding relief from years of terrible suffering but I tried in vain," said Mrs. J. E. Willhouse, 68 West Ohio street Chicago. "Stomach, liver, kidney, and bladder troubles tortured me unmercifully. At times my body was so sore that I could not stand the weight of covers. My legs and feet were swollen from their natural size and my whole system was flooded with poisons.
"My friends urged me to try Konjola, did just what I was told it would. My health was restored after only three bottles for it went right to the source of my ills. All my ailments disappeared like magic, and today I feel as if I had never had a sick day in my life. I am glad to end my Konjola."
Each of Konjola's ingredients, 22 of which are the juices of natural plants combined with other recognized medicinal elements, has a special duty to perform on the ailing organs. All who have given it a fair trial, (six to eight bottles) have declared there is no other medicine like it.
Konjola is sold and recommended by all the better drug stores in Dixon as a fair test.

floor in the southeast corner of the home. A small and very neatly arranged office is also stationed on the first floor. An electric elevator has been installed in the home. The display rooms are located on the third floor and are beautifully arranged. A comfortably furnished parlor is stationed adjoining the display room, where there is ample space for the showing of large numbers of caskets.
Living Quarters
The second floor is used entirely for living quarters of Mrs. Jones and her family.
Large rooms in the basement are used for storage purposes and for the housing of the heating plant.
High ceilings, large spacious rooms throughout the house, the rich drapes and floor coverings of Oriental and imported rugs, the massive furniture create an atmosphere of comfort and of rest. There is ample natural light throughout the house from the numberless windows and the massive stained glass windows on the north side of the house add to the softened lighting of the funeral parlors.
Mrs. Jones in establishing the funeral home has not neglected the beautiful lawn which surrounds the residence. Landscape gardeners have planted several pine trees, flower beds have been laid out in profusion skirting the cement driveway along the south side of the home and when completed the lawn will be one of the beauty spots of northern Illinois.
The host of friends of Mrs. Jones and her family will join in wishing many years of continued success in the new location which has been arranged according to her own ideas for providing a model funeral home.

A BALLAD OF THE SANDAL TREE

I STOOD beside a sandal tree;
A woodman, axe in hand,
Stood near; and all triumphantly
The stately tree he scanned.

He raised his axe above his head,
Then wheeled it o'er and over;
And time, on time, the broad blade
Sped
To find the sandal's core.

At each new blow the woodman dealt
The tree fresh incense breathed;
And to the axe, whose blade it felt,
Its perfume, sweet, bequeathed.

And said I to my restless soul—
"What meaning is there here?"
When, lo! I saw a mystic scroll
That gave this message clear—

"Let man, who bears his brother's blow,
Learn from the sandal tree
That his best wisdom he will show
When, like the sandal, he,

in scorn of dealing ill for ill,
Gives blessing back for blow—
Breathes forth a message of goodwill
To his destroying foe."

—Louis H. Victory, "Lamps and Trumpets."

Scouting Adds To Girls' Happiness

Happiness is the birthright of every child and good health contributes to happiness. Girl Scouting takes the girls out into the open, hikes with them, teaches them woodcraft, camping and swimming. It teaches them certain fundamental rules of hygiene, such as eating wholesome food, going to bed early, exercising in the open air and cleanliness. The outdoor life brings with it more than health in the ordinary sense; it brings quiet, steady nerves and the peace and delight that comes as the intimate knowledge of woods, birds and stars increases. This they learn through their work in Girl Scout troops and patrols.

Those who desire to help the Dixon Girl Scouts may send their checks to Mrs. W. A. Rhodes, 618 East Second Street, payable to The Girl Scouts.

NO NOURISHMENT IN IT.

The scientists seem to have been burning the midnight oil lately. One professor, having taken thought, announces that it would take a ray of light at least one trillion years to cross our universe. Another predicts that we shall be able to travel to the moon within the coming century. Still another finds some unexpected wigglers in a tube of sea water and believes that he is close to uncovering the facts about the origin of life.

All of this is interesting and stimulating, and gives us a pleasant sense of the power of the human mind. However, there is no use getting too excited about it. Knowledge of this kind may be very useful and important, but there isn't a great deal of nourishment in it for the ordinary man.

This "universe" that the astronomer talks about, for instance; is it anything with which most of us are even remotely acquainted? Not at all. It is a collection of blazing suns, whirling in complicated orbits through an immense emptiness, moving in obedience to some incomprehensible but immutable laws, like an enormous and mysterious clock-work whirling.

But to the rest of us the universe is simply the sky; a vaulted bowl of blue or gray or black, spangled at night with pin-points of distant light; and it works some queer sort of magic, so that when we look up at it, on starlit nights, we get the foolish notion that the whole business is simply a stage-setting for our own lives, and that we ourselves are the most important creatures in existence.

Any astronomer can tell you that that view of things is juvenile and mistaken. But there is more nourishment in it than in a volume of talk about "light years."

It is the same with these other bits of knowledge. Perhaps we shall be able to visit the moon some day; but who, in his senses, would want to? Isn't it better to take the moon for what it seems to be—a strange, glamorous adjunct to romance? Any lad wandering down a moonlit valley with his arm around a pretty girl, knows more about the true inwardness of the moon than all the scientists that ever lived.

And so it goes. What if a group of wigglers in a test-tube do give some scientist a new hunch about the mechanics of living? A six-months-old baby, gurgling and jabbering in a crib, can tell you of infinite mysteries, more profound and fundamental, if only you happen to be that child's parent. There is more to this world than chemical equations.

There are various kinds of knowledge. The most impressive kinds aren't always the kinds that are the most help in the business of living.

THE OLD SOLDIERS PASS ON.

In 1920, the U. S. census takers found 1551 war veterans occupying the Illinois Soldiers' Home at Quincy, Ill.

A few days ago the 1930 enumerators finished their count. They found just 631 of the veterans left, and they are dying at the rate of 10 a month.

The survivors of the war between the states are growing fewer and fewer, as that dreadful conflict recedes farther into history. By 1940, it is probable that few Soldiers' Homes will house any of them.

It is hard to see them go. Their valor, their unquestioning patriotism, have been a leaven in the life of the nation for decades, north and south alike. We are losing something of great value in their departure.

Every time people kiss, a doctor says, they shorten their lives by two minutes. And judging from some of the close-ups we have seen on the screen it is a wonder why some movie folk don't drop dead.

Cloak and suit manufacturers are to establish a chair in a large eastern university to prepare young men for positions. The matter of style should come easy to students who know so much about cuts.

Ohio doctors who feel that they have been kept away long enough will probably be cheered at the report that the apple crop in their state has been destroyed.

The bird man then went on his way. "I'm going to ship these birds today and so I have to hurry to the shipping point," said he. "Each one's a pretty rolling bird. Their song's as sweet as you have heard. I'm sending them to U. S. A., far, far across the sea."

"Oh, my," said Clowny, "that makes me as homesick as a lad could be. The U. S. A. is our home land and it's a wondrous place. Around the world we're traveling now, but some day we'll go back, somehow. We don't know where all we will go. It's like a wild goose chase."

"I think you're lucky," said the man. "Just have a good time while you can. When you have grown to great big men, you'll have to work like me. It isn't fun to toil all day, so make the best of all your play. Some day you'll understand and know how different it will be."

And then they bid the man goodbye and Scouty, with a deep, deep

NORTH POLE FLIGHT

On May 9, 1926, Richard E. Byrd, American naval officer and aeronautic explorer, flew over the North Pole in a tri-motored Fokker monoplane piloted by Floyd Bennett. He was the first to achieve the feat.

About an hour after leaving Spitzbergen on the final dash to the pole the oil tank sprang a leak. But the plane was so far away from land that it was impossible to turn back with any degree of safety. This is the situation which Byrd later called the most thrilling experience of his life.

On reaching the pole Byrd circled several times and verified the observations of Admiral Peary who discovered it in 1909. The appearance of the pole is described by him as follows: "It did not look different from other miles of ice we had just passed. There was the same stretch of brilliant white marked by ridges, hummocks and few leads, recently frozen showing green against white. This was the desolate top of the earth and we were over it."

After recording his observations, Byrd flew a little further, changing from north to south in an instant. Then he circled the pole again and flew back to his starting point. Byrd recently returned from an expedition to the South Pole which he crossed also by airplane.

Moros Give Battle To Filipino Force

Manila, May 8—(AP)—The Philippine Constabulary clashed tonight with Moro outlaws on the island of Mindanao in the most severe fighting in many months. One Constabulary officer and three privates were killed and three officers and fifteen privates were wounded. The fighting continued in the mountainous Kawayan district.

The injured included the American Captain J. R. Grinstead, commander of Lanao Province. Although his wound was in the leg, it was thought it might result fatally. The officer killed was Lieut. A. C. Maynes, a Filipino.

The fighting, which started last night, was still in progress today. The Moros were firmly entrenched in a fort and fully provided with firearms. All Constabulary companies in the Kawayan district were called to the fight.

The Moro casualties and the size of their force were not known. Their number, however, was believed to be large to have resisted so long the well armed Constabulary troops.

The outlaws included men wanted for various crimes, including murder, cattle stealing, robbery and resistance to payment of taxes. They have given the authorities trouble constantly.

Lieutenant Maynes was killed when the Constabulary rushed the fort. Another Filipino officer, Lieutenant Garcia, was wounded in the head.

Harvard Students In Pajamas Staged Riot

Cambridge, Mass., May 8—(AP)—Several hundred Harvard students, many pajama clad, rioted late last night through the gold coast section, defying 40 policemen to create order and pelting officers and bystanders with bottles, fruit, telephone books and pails and bags of water.

Carroll H. Parker, secretary of the Phillips Brooks Association, was arrested in pajamas and bath robe and charged with disturbance of the peace. Samuel C. Davis, Jr. of St. Louis, and John K. Bottomley of Boston, freshmen, were taken to the college infirmary with injuries received in the melee.

The trouble started, police believed, after a water battle in one of the dormitories during a warm evening. The familiar rallying cry of "Rheinhardt" assembled the students.

A nearby policeman turned in a riot call and during the confusion a fire alarm was turned in to bring apparatus to the fray.

Hindu Riots Spread

Sholapur, Bombay, India, May 8—(AP)—Twenty-seven or more police and natives were killed in desperate rioting which, starting last night, was resumed at dawn today and had resulted at noon in seizure of this city of 120,000 inhabitants by the adherents of Mahatma Gandhi.

Resisting the local authorities who had forbidden their assemblage, the angry natives maintained attacks which threw the city into chaos.

The local police were powerless. Citizen reserves who joined them soon were thrown back by the rioters. Troops rushed into this textile community likewise proved unable to cope with the situation.

At noon today the officer commanding the auxiliary forces of India sent out a call for more troops.

GLY-CAS RESTORES
HEALTH AFTER 15
YEARS SUFFERINGStubborn Neuritis, Stomach
Trouble Ended by Gly-Cas
After Others Completely
Failed in Case.

MRS. C. KLINEDINST

"It is utterly unbelievable how much good Gly-Cas has done for me," said Mrs. C. Klinedinst, 812 South West St., Galesburg, Illinois.

"I had neuritis so bad in my neck and shoulders that I could not even move my head," continued Mrs. Klinedinst. "At nights I would have awful sick headaches so I could not sleep and was tired and worn-out all of the time. After my meals I would suffer terribly from severe indigestion and a gnawing sensation in my stomach. I was in constant misery and pain until I decided to try Gly-Cas, and it has completely rid me of my health troubles."

"It is wonderful what Gly-Cas has done for me. I feel fine now and those awful pains in my shoulders and neck of neuritis which nearly crippled me have gone entirely. My stomach is in good condition now. I can eat anything I want and do not suffer at all from that indigestion or gnawing sensation, and Gly-Cas has also rid me of those sick headaches, in fact it has made me well again. Friends tell me how well I look and I feel just that Gly-Cas has done for me what no other medicine has ever been able to do."

Gly-Cas is sold in Dixon at the Campbell White Cross Pharmacy and Franklin Grove, G. S. Ives, Polo, C. R. Clothier, Ashton, G. R. Charters, Amboy, Achenbrenner, Drux, Compton, W. H. Hills, Rochelle, Barker & Sullivan and by leading druggists in all surrounding towns—Adv.

Three Arrested For Toluca Bank Theft

Chicago, May 8.—(UP)—Three suspects in the robbery of the Toluca Ill. bank robbery on April 29 were being held here today for Toluca officials. The three are Charles Ryan, John and Howard Kerr, brothers.

The three were arrested by William Cesack, lieutenant of detectives, who said they had lived in Toluca at one time. Ryan was said to have told officials of the railroad for which he was a fireman that he had been arrested for questioning in the Toluca case. Ryan was explaining why he had laid off from work one day, it was said. Investigation showed he had not been questioned and the arrest of the three followed.

The bandits obtained $4800 in the robbery.

Kidnaped St. Louis Merchant Is Freed

St. Louis, May 8.—(AP)—Jacob Godlove, 62, wealthy north St. Louis merchant who was kidnaped Monday night and held for $20,000 ransom for fifty hours, was freed late last night by his captors. No ransom was paid, his relatives said.

Godlove revealed that he had been kidnaped while putting his car into his garage late Monday night. He said he was kept blindfolded but was not mistreated, during the period of his imprisonment which he thought was in a building in St. Louis county.

His son, Ralph Godlove, also a merchant, had received two letters demanding ransom under threat of death, but the matter was turned over to police and no ransom demands were met, the son said. Godlove said he was released about 11 P. M. in Forest Park where he was driven in an automobile.

Daily Health Talk

SAVE FUEL: SAVE HEALTH
By Emory R. Hayhurst, M. D.
Ohio State University,
Columbus, Ohio.

(This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, which is organized to perpetuate the life work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. The headquarters of the Institute are at 1321 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.)

"Variation is the spice of life," said Cowper and this applies to one's environment as well as to his actions. Biological life really lives on variation, because variation produces stimulation without which life would soon cease.

In heating the home one may have variation, promote health, and save fuel by a number of simple means. The general house temperature should not exceed 60 to 68 degrees. Temperatures from 68 to 75 degrees are fine for relaxation and snoozing but are too comforting and depressing for mental and physical activities. Stimulation comes then in passing from rooms of one temperature to those of another.

Rooms requiring more than 60 degrees should be provided with local sources of heat such as fireplaces, gas stoves, electric heaters, etc. If possible such local auxiliary heat should be of the radiant kind, that is, from a glowing source and the hotter the better.

One builds health by getting at night the invigorating properties of cool fresh air in the bedroom, especially where one's daily work keeps him confined within doors.

Proper insulation of the home is a tremendous factor in saving fuel. Double (or storm) windows and doors, caulking up loose window and door frames, and flooring the attic from which cold heavy air tends to settle down into the rooms below, accomplish this. Nor do these measures shut out ventilation too much for chimney openings, fire places, and the very walls themselves permit enough air exchange to prevent sickness. Recirculation of the heated air within the house, even from the basement to upstairs, effects a great conservation of heat and keeps the interior warmer.

Heat is well saved in a room by placing two heating sources at opposite sides of the room, such as a grate on one side and furnace register or radiator on the other. This avoids "cold on one side and hot on the other" which may promote sickness.

Much fuel can be saved by getting the heat out of the furnace. Set an electric fan in, or in front of the cold air intake which should always be from within the house and not from the outside air, and run it for an hour or so at a time on cold days. The result will usually be surprising.

Finally, thermometers are indispensable in more ways than one. They correct false impressions, settle disputes, and warn people (Americans especially) of the prevailing custom of over-heating rooms.

CAPONE IN JAIL

Miami, Fla., May 8.—(AP)—"Scarface" Al Capone, Chicago racketeer, and two of his gangsters were placed in Miami municipal jail this afternoon.

RAYMOND H. SELLERS, EDITOR OF THE FRANKLIN (IND.) STAR, SAYS:

THAT one of the most notable changes in civic and industrial life is the present attitude of so-called "big business" toward the people as a whole. It has not been so many years since big business followed a "public be damned" policy, but every day now we see instances of our biggest corporations taking the public into their confidence as evidence that our corporations cherish the good will of those whom it serves.

Just a few days ago we saw such an example in our own city. Some property owners presented a petition to our city council asking that a well known oil company be required to move its bulk storage tanks to a more remote part of the city. Before any official notice had been received by the oil company and their only information being received from a newspaper story, its general manager and its chief attorney came to Franklin and spent a whole day here interviewing the city officials, visiting their bulk tank station and finding out first hand if their company was guilty of operating a nuisance. This action of two important officials of the company served to promote a lot of good will for they showed by their interest in coming that they did not desire to be guilty of operating a station that was in any way objectionable to the people.

Good will advertisements are a regular policy of many of our large corporations and that they pay big dividends is proven by the changed attitude of the public toward these corporations.

THIS NEW POLICY OF BIG BUSINESS IS ONE OF THE MOST HOPEFUL SIGNS OF A BETTER AND BIGGER DAY FOR INDUSTRY IN AMERICA.

IOWA DOCTOR DEAD

Davenport, Iowa, May 8.—(AP)—Dr. W. L. Allen, 72, dean of Davenport physicians and well known throughout Iowa and Illinois, died at his home of heart trouble.

Dr. Allen had been in ill health for nearly a year and recently returned from a stay in California where he sought to regain his health.

CHAIN STORE FACTS No. 7

YOU HAVE BEEN TOLD
"Chain stores do not support local charity and community enterprises."

HERE ARE THE FACTS

Chain stores as well as independent merchants contribute their fair share to these enterprises in your community. Local, civic and social as well as charitable organizations can vouch for support from the National Tea Co. who annually gives many thousands of dollars to Community Funds, Hospital Associations, Y. M. C. A., Boy Scouts, Salvation Army, volunteer fire departments and other worthy charitable and civic enterprises. National Tea Co. does not claim that all chain stores contribute their full quota but you will find that all independents do not do their duty in this same respect.

ACCIDENT-FREE
MONTH IN JUNE
CEMENT CO. AIM

Dixon Mill Employees In Drive To Prevent Any Mishaps

Joining with cement plants throughout America for the fifth annual drive on accidents during the month of June, the Dixon mill of the Medusa Portland Cement Co. is making an effort to operate throughout the month without an injury, even of a minor nature, to a single employee. The June no-accident campaign, held annually at the height of the production season, has resulted in amazing reductions in accidents throughout the various mills according to W. E. Wuerth, Superintendent of the local mill, and every effort is being made to completely organize the plant for a record safety effort. The Portland Cement Association, of which the local mill is a member, is directing the international general program with the co-operation of national and state labor departments and safety organizations. Every man in the local mill is being enrolled in a "no-accident legion" to support the drive, and departmental enthusiasm is reported to be at a high pitch. According to Mr. Wuerth, the Dixon plant has always been a staunch supporter of safety work, but hopes are entertained that the June drive will result to establish the mill in an even more prominent place among the 160 plants competing throughout this country, Canada, Mexico and Cuba. A local safety committee composed of seventeen men has been appointed to direct departmental safety activity during the month. Starting June 1, a newly designed safety flag presented by the Portland Cement Association will be raised over the mill, and this flag will continue to fly for as long as the plant continues to operate without lost time accident. Superintendent Wuerth stated today that every effort will be made to keep the flag flying until it falls apart. "The spirit of the men is keen for the campaign," he states, "and I believe that this year's effort will result in even finer achievement than has been recorded during June of last year, which was the safest month ever recorded for our industry."

The Husband Hunter

BEGIN HERE TODAY

NATALIE CONVERSE tries to conquer her jealousy over her husband, ALAN, who has given over BERNADINE LAMONT, a popular night club hostess, when the latter asks Alan to look after her son, BOBBY, whose father had saved Alan's life during the war.

Alan tries to explain that the doctor had given Bernadine only a short time to live, but Natalie's refusal cause him to seek understanding and sympathy from his secretary, PHILIPPA WEST, who is waiting for the opportunity.

Phillippa manages to widen the breach between Alan and Natalie by showing her a letter from him for the time he has given Bobby. However, an explanation and a week-end at Lake Placid restore harmony to the couple and Phillipa is furious.

She changes an order of Alan's for orchids and when Natalie goes to a bridge party and hears another woman boast that Alan has sent her orchids, all her old anger is aroused. She refuses to believe his denials. Angered, Alan takes Phillipa out again and wonders if he could love the girl when she so cruelly refuses his kisses.

On returning home he finds Natalie packing to leave. They quarrel but wounded pride prevents either one from seeking a reconciliation. After she leaves, the house seems desolate to Alan and he seeks consolation with Phillipa. She flouts his victory to the office for her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XIX

PHILIPPA'S triumphant smile did not endure in Alan's presence. Before she entered the office she saw at once he had become immersed in his business.

Something important had attracted his attention, and for the time at least he forgot he might expect sympathy and understanding from his secretary.

She was glad the girls outside could not see with what tenderness he began his dictation. Her native caution warned her she might have been a bit hasty in giving the office a peep behind the scenes.

Phillip was reflective; a trait which had proved of value to her on other occasions. Had she not lost control of her temper at times she would have had remarkable ability to govern.

Now, in the pauses of Alan's dictation, she concluded it would be better for her to let him make the approaches, and the disclosures as well, perhaps. The girls had been given their cue; Phillipa made up her mind not to carry it further and run the risk of being made ridiculous.

She got up without a word when Alan told her that was all, and walked quietly out of the room. Alan did not dream she was keenly disappointed in him, or that under her calm exterior passion smoldered.

It was only by an effort of will that Phillipa accepted the dictates of her better judgment and common sense.

She was able to maintain her poise when the girls looked up at her gain, as she stepped out of the private office.

But she came close to losing it when, about an hour later, she took the letters that were to be signed to him and found Alan telephoning his house.

She heard him ask Frances if there was a letter from Mrs. Converse, and for a moment her face was dark with fury. Fortunately for her, Alan did not look up. Her expression would have been enough to kill his interest in her instantly.

For if there was one thing that he'd had enough of in women, it was temper.

Phillip knew it, so, in the moment of grace that was granted her, she smoothed out her features into a semblance of amiability.

"There isn't? Are you sure?" Alan replaced the receiver and turned around. Phillipa saw he looked glum. She put the letters down with a flourish and hurried out.

Alan signed them and, being on his way to the outer office, took them back to her for mailing.

Phillip was bent over her task, trying to hide her expression, both from him and from the others present.

Alan did not appear to notice. He wasn't, in fact, thinking of her at all. Some impulse, which he did not try to define, had prompted him to put in the call to his home and inquire about the mail. He was conscious of feeling greatly disappointed now that he knew there was no letter from Natalie.

The feeling grew on him as the day's work was disposed of, and he had less to think about. In the early afternoon, he decided suddenly to write to her. Perhaps he would not have been inclined to do so if it hadn't happened that Phillipa went out to lunch when she did.

She had waited beyond her usual time, hoping to have a few minutes with Alan, while they had the offices very much to themselves.

But Alan wasn't hungry. He stayed in his office. It was only when he felt like getting out because he was restless, that he thought of lunching. He decided to ask Phillipa to lunch with him. She didn't talk business when they were away from the office; and all the men he could get hold of at short notice did.

He wasn't thoroughly satisfied with the letter when it was finished, but he was afraid he might not compose another if he destroyed it. Writing of Natalie's jealousy had almost dissipated his softer mood.

LOCOMOTIVE GRATES IN HOME FURNACE

Lennox Torrid Zone Has Many Features Besides Steel-riveted, Gas-tight Construction

The most durable type of grates in the world are used in the Torrid Zone Warm Air Furnace. They are of the special rocking design as used in locomotives and are controlled from the outside by a long-handled "lazy" shaker. Hardly more effort is required to shake them than is used in brushing the teeth. Any woman can do it—and she could do it in a party dress without fear of dust or dirt because of the unusually tight-fitting doors.

The Torrid Zone is the ideal furnace for the fine residence and is made in types and sizes for homes of every class and for schools, churches, stores and office buildings. There are combination hot water and warm air types and others equipped with electric blowers for large scale operating. They are made for hard or soft coal, coke, lignite, wood, gas or oil—and they'll save money for you in the burning of any one of them. Made by the Lennox Furnace Company, Syracuse, N.
